

Nov 26, 2016

Art Market

50 Must-See Artworks at UNTITLED, Art Miami, NADA, PULSE, and More

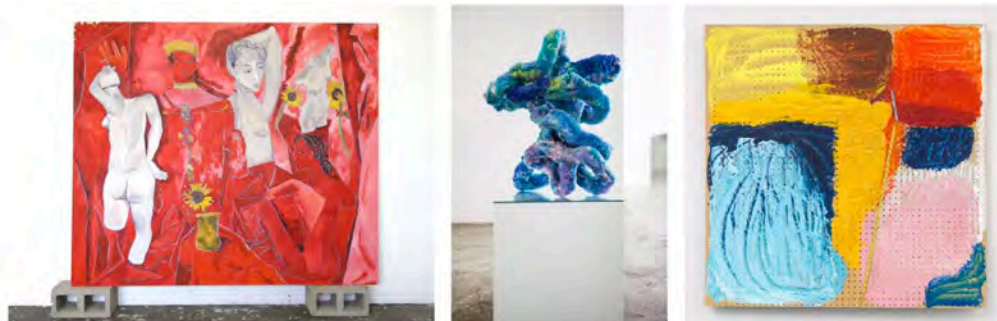

Alexxa Gotthardt

NADA Miami Beach

6701 COLLINS AVE., MIAMI BEACH

Opens Dec. 1

After a stint at the posh Fontainebleau hotel, NADA returns in its 14th edition to the Deauville Beach Resort, a quirky but charming high-rise with which the fair has been long associated. Staying true to its passionate commitment to emerging art, NADA will host 110 galleries and project spaces from 17 different countries; significantly, 43 of them will be first-time exhibitors. One of those is New York's Company Gallery, which will bring a solo presentation from sculptor, painter, and spellbinding performance artist Raúl de Nieves. His breakout show at Company opened earlier this year to rave reviews, and just last week it was announced that he is slated to participate in the 2017 Whitney Biennial. At Martos, painter Alex Chaves will unveil new figurative canvases inspired by the late Lower East Side artist Dan Asher, whose estate the gallery recently began to represent. Other highlights include new photos by Sara Cwynar at Foxy Production, David Leggett's canvases of black cultural icons at Shane Campbell, and Eric Mack's pegboard paintings at Moran Bondaroff.

Left: Alex Chaves, Keke, 2016. Courtesy of Martos Gallery, New York; Center: Raúl de Nieves, As Far As You Take Me That's Where I Believe, 2015. Courtesy of Company Gallery, New York; Right: Eric Mack, Bed, Bath, Beyond It, 2016. Courtesy of Moran Bondaroff Gallery, Los Angeles.