

Seven new galleries to discover at Art Basel Miami Beach 2024

They hail from a diverse range of cultural ecosystems, including Germany's Rhineland, South Korea's bustling capital, and the Pacific Northwest

By Rob Goyanes | Oct 28, 2024 | 5 min read

All great artists have a voice of their own, and the same is true of the galleries that champion them. This year, Art Basel Miami Beach will feature more new galleries than at any point since 2008. Taking place from December 6–8, 2024, at the Miami Beach Convention Center, the fair will welcome 34 first-time participants, an eclectic group hailing from across the Americas, Europe, and Asia. Below are seven of those galleries and the exciting work they will showcase, bringing even greater diversity to the show.

MARTOS GALLERY

Martos Gallery (Galleries sector, New York, US)

The 1980s were a turning point – politically, socially, and culturally – and especially so in New York. Martos Gallery will present works by six artists from this pivotal period, including Keith Haring, who epitomizes the fusion of street and fine art, and Dan Asher, whose diverse practice spans sculpture, performance, video, and drawing. Also featured will be Michael Auder, an experimental photographer and filmmaker associated with Warhol's Factory, and Kathleen White, a member of the Downtown scene whose intimate works responded to the profound losses of the AIDS crisis.

Installation view of Martos Gallery's booth at Art Basel in Basel 2024.

Installation view of a work by Keith Haring, presented by Martos Gallery in the Unlimited sector of Art Basel in Basel 2024.